

Player wondered about dying at the beginning.

Dialogue struggling with clicks.

Ambiguous reason to keep delivering packages.

Unable to understand what was the delivery package, thought the stickers were the package.

Reached the middle of the stage without the package.

Although the package was never picked up, it was automatically picked up upon falling down.

Bug: package with low health, got recalled and disappeared, but the game didn't end.

Lobby level has enemies, make it a struggle to talk to NPCs.

Player understanding ability to jump is not intuitive.

Inertia principle is hard to grasp, should be more explicit that recall generates inertia.